Section 1: Exam Skills

In Section 1 of the exam, you are often expected to identify the speakers in a dialogue. Match the pictures with the dialogues below.

1. A: Come on! You can do it. Just give me one more.
   B: I don’t think I can. I’m still hurting from the last session.

2. A: I want you to pose like a famous actress. Think Angelina Jolie, Kate Winslet.
   B: OK, but tell me as soon as you get the picture. I need a break.

3. A: How do you manage to keep your figure so perfect?
   B: Well, I had to do a lot of training for my latest film project, so that got me into shape.

4. A: That’s very good news. But don’t be surprised if you don’t lose much over the month to come.
   B: But I have to! My wedding’s in June, and I still can’t get into the dress.

Section 1: Exam-style Practice

Now listen to your teacher read out four texts. Then put a cross (X) in the box next to the correct answer to show who is / are speaking.

1. A: dietician and client
   B: husband and wife
   C: colleagues

2. A: actor
   B: fitness instructor
   C: director

3. A: travel agent and client
   B: dietician and receptionist
   C: dietician and client

4. A: fan
   B: reporter
   C: star

Section 2: Exam Skills

In Section 2 of the exam, you are expected to write down exactly what you hear with the correct spelling. Your teacher is going to read out eight words, twice each. Listen and write them down. Make sure you spell the words correctly.

3.
4.
5.
6.
7.
8.
Preparation 1

Section 2: Exam-style Practice
Now your teacher is going to read out three statements. Listen to each statement once. Then your teacher will read them a second time with pauses for you to write down exactly what you hear. Make sure you spell the words correctly.

2 .....................................................................................................................................................
3 .....................................................................................................................................................

Section 3: Exam Skills
In Section 3 of the exam, the sentences you need to complete will often be rewordings of what you will hear. Tick (✓) the option which has the same meaning as the first sentence.

1 There are over 3 million people in this country who are unhappy with their body.
   - The number of people in this country who are not happy with their body equals 3 million.
   - The number of people in this country who are not happy with their body exceeds 3 million.

2 She is the best-trained player on the team.
   - She is the member of the team who plays the best.
   - She is the member of the team who trains the most.

Section 3: Exam-style Practice
Now your teacher is going to read out a short dialogue. Listen and complete the notes.

1 The majority of .............................................. have a star as an idol.
2 They might get .............................................. if they don’t succeed like their idol.
3 If, however, it makes them work .............................................., it would be a good thing.

Section 4: Exam Skills
In Section 4 of the exam, you are expected to choose the correct word to fill in the gap. To help you find the answer, you need to understand the text’s purpose. Think about where the following short texts would be found. Fill in: competition announcement, magazine advertisement, health warning.

1 Sign up, and Celebrity Style magazine will be delivered to your doorstep every weekend at 25% off the usual price! ................................................

2 Take one tablet three times a day after meals. Do not take these pills on an empty stomach. ................................................

3 Send in your short story and you could be one of the lucky winners of a Gucci handbag! ................................................
Section 4: Exam-style Practice

Now read each text and put a cross (✗) by the missing word.

1. Did you reach your □□□□ of losing those extra pounds? We want readers to send in their weight-loss stories so we can find the SLIMMER OF THE YEAR!
   A □ weight  B □ decision  C □ goal

2. These pills send signals to the brain telling it you are full, and are guaranteed to reduce your □□□□ fast.
   A □ appetite  B □ addiction  C □ fat

3. This year, several Hollywood actors and leading designers are joining forces to launch a new campaign aimed at raising awareness of the □□□□ of heart disease.
   A □ cures  B □ risks  C □ cases

Section 5: Exam Skills

In Section 5 of the exam, it is important to work out the main idea of the reading passages. Read the passage below and answer the question.

The global economic crisis may be the last straw for the high-fashion designers. The days of elaborate, impractical creations on the catwalk could be over. In the 1940s, there were more than 200 fashion houses that catered to the top end of the market, with an estimated clientele of 300,000 worldwide. Now there are only 13 such houses which provide designs for about 2,000 clients. Even some of these are reported to be making big losses. In response, many designers are moving towards simplicity and ready-to-wear clothing.

What is the main idea of the passage?
A □ Fashion today lacks imagination.
B □ The end of luxury fashion is in sight.
C □ Paris fashion is developing a new style.

Section 5: Exam-style Practice

Now read the passage and answer the questions below. Put a cross (✗) in the box next to the correct answer.

Many people tend to idolise certain figures in the public eye. At first glance, there seems to be little wrong with looking up to people who are exceptionally gifted or have dynamic personalities.

However, we should bear in mind that the image we see has been carefully created by managers and public relations officers. The real person may be hidden behind this constructed, artificial image which is intended to market the celebrity in question.

The danger of admiring these seemingly perfect stars is that we could become dissatisfied with the ordinary people around us. Admiring somebody’s talent or achievement is preferable to falling for the unrealistic image of a singer or actor. Otherwise, we are bound to be disappointed by reality.

1. What is the main idea in the first paragraph?
   A □ Famous people deserve to have many fans.
   B □ It is natural to admire celebrities.
   C □ Dynamic people might not be gifted.

2. What is the problem with looking up to famous people?
   A □ We do not know what they are really like.
   B □ We do not know anything about their managers.
   C □ We cannot actually ask them questions.

3. How does the writer believe we should view celebrities?
   A □ as perfect people
   B □ as talented people
   C □ as disappointed people
Section 6: Exam Skills
In Section 6 of the exam, the words used in the questions are often synonyms of words used in the text and identifying these will help you find the answer. Match the phrasal verbs with their synonyms.

1. take up  2. run out  3. sign up  4. build up  5. work out
   a. use up  b. exercise  c. start an activity  d. join  e. increase / develop

Section 6: Exam-style Practice
Now read the article below and answer the questions.

It is a sad fact that after leaving school, 75% of people do not take up active hobbies. The remaining 25% tend to get regular exercise, usually by signing up for gym membership.

A new campaign has been launched by local gyms to make young people aware of the facilities available at gyms that help people build up their fitness such as exercise bikes and rowing machines.

1. What do three quarters of school-leavers not do? ........................................................
2. What do most people join so they can exercise regularly? ........................................................
3. What equipment can people use to develop their fitness? ........................................................

Section 7: Exam Skills
In Section 7 of the exam, you are expected to read a text and use the information to fill in some gaps. The following exercise will enable you to practise the required skills. Find words in the text that mean the same as the words below.

Famous people are always in the public eye. It would be wonderful to travel a lot, and have the money to buy anything you want, but you would miss your privacy. Film stars and other celebrities always have to put up with journalists and photographers watching their every move, which puts a lot of pressure on them.

1. personal life .................................................. 3. tolerate ..................................................
2. famous people .................................................. 4. strain ..................................................

Section 7: Exam-style Practice
Now read the short text and complete the notes. Write no more than three words in each gap from the text.

Being a successful sportsperson must be easier, in a way. Some pop stars or film stars are promoted by means of clever marketing strategies, and are sometimes not really talented at all. All their success depends on their having the right image. With athletes, you can see that they are better than everyone else, and no amount of marketing can make them run faster.

1. Even though some stars have no ............................................., they still become famous.
2. Promotion cannot make a sportsperson .................................................

While many people seem to have more than their fair share of wealth, others struggle to survive – even in developed countries. Today, however, more and more celebrities are helping to make the world a better place for those in need by becoming involved in charity work and making generous donations.

Businessmen Bill Gates and Richard Branson, actress Angelina Jolie and pop star Madonna are all examples of famous people who are also philanthropists. Their actions have set an example for ordinary people to follow. Although few people are as rich as the celebrities mentioned above, if everyone donated a little to charity, it would make a huge difference.

Following the 2010 Haiti earthquake, actress Sandra Bullock gave $1 million to Doctors Without Borders so as to help them continue relief efforts. ‘I wanted to ensure that my donation would be used immediately to meet the needs of the Haitian people affected by this catastrophic event,’ she said in a statement to the press. The same amount was donated by Brad Pitt and Angelina Jolie. Brazilian supermodel Gisele Bundchen gave $1.5 million.

Some people feel that the rich and famous have more than enough money, and that it is only right that they should help those in need. Others argue that celebrities are under no obligation to help, and should do whatever they want with their money. The general consensus, however, is that governments should be doing more to tackle problems like poverty. Those in need are no doubt grateful that the rich and famous have become involved in their plight and appreciate the help they receive.

- C [ ] make it unnecessary for ordinary people to help.

29 What is true of the actress Sandra Bullock?
- A [ ] She prevented a natural disaster.
- B [ ] She acted promptly to help disaster victims.
- C [ ] She went to Haiti to meet victims of the earthquake.

30 Who gave the most money to Doctors Without Borders?
- A [ ] Sandra Bullock
- B [ ] Brad Pitt and Angelina Jolie

Section 6  Reading

Read the web article below and answer the questions.

A survey carried out by a leading health magazine has found that eight out of ten people fail to achieve their goals after starting a diet or signing up for an exercise programme.

The most popular month to join a gym is January. Hoping to lose the extra weight they gained over Christmas, new members often sign up for several months or even a year. The majority, however, have already stopped attending by the end of February or March. Similarly, diet programmes are often started with great enthusiasm and dieters even lose some weight at first. Over time, however, they tend to lose patience and go back to their old habits.

It should be remembered that achieving a goal is never easy, and that permanent results usually require a permanent change in lifestyle.

Example: How many people on weight loss programmes fail to achieve their goals?

Eight out of ten

32 When are people most likely to enrol in a gym?

33 How long do new gym members tend to stick to an exercise programme?

34 What do people on diets often run out of?

35 How can permanent weight loss be achieved?

Read the article below and answer the questions.

Many people think that modelling is just about being beautiful. But there’s more to it than that. While good looks are important, a distinctive personal style also plays a significant role.

Today there are many modelling courses available. While these offer useful advice on how to pursue a career in modelling, they hold no guarantee of finding work. Would-be models should arrange to have their photos taken by a professional so that they can prepare a portfolio. The fashion industry is extremely competitive and, above all, a model needs to have determination and self-discipline. Nobody can succeed in this line of work without them, no matter how beautiful they are.

Example: What do many people wrongly believe about modelling?

It’s just about being beautiful

36 What are modelling courses unable to offer?

37 What should a portfolio contain?

38 How does the text describe the fashion industry?

39 What personal qualities should a model possess?
FASHION DESIGN AS A CAREER

Fashion design is the art concerned with the design and aesthetics of clothing and accessories. The fashion industry is huge, and becoming a fashion designer is one of the most popular career choices for young people today. Since fashion is influenced by ever-changing cultural and social attitudes, demand for new designs, and thus new talent, is continual. The truth is that there is money to be made in the fashion world but, as we all know, success often comes at a price. Fashion designers have to work under intense pressure, and getting a fashion collection out on time can be extremely stressful. For successful fashion designers, normal working hours are unheard of, though travel to exciting places such as Rome, New York and Paris is often on the agenda.

To become a successful fashion designer, you need to have graduated from a reputable art and design college. Once you have your degree, you can decide how you want to work. Basically, you have two choices: you can either work full-time for one company or become a freelancer and work for yourself. Working for a company might guarantee you job security, but anything you design belongs to the company and bears the company label. Freelancers, on the other hand, sell their designs to fashion houses, shops or even clothing manufacturers who are looking for original designs. This means that freelancers have the freedom to set up their own label and make a name for themselves.

Whatever choice you make, the best thing to do while still studying is to learn as much as you can about clothes and the people you intend to design them for. You can do this by helping out in a department store. Even if you have to do this on a voluntary basis, just remember that the experience will help train your eye as far as colours, patterns, materials and the customer’s wants are concerned.

Example: Fashion design has to do with the design as well as the aesthetics of clothing.

40 Becoming a fashion designer is an extremely popular choice of ____________________________ .
41 There is a lot of ____________________________ involved in putting together a fashion collection.
42 Although fashion designers may get to see lots of different places, their ____________________________ can be very long.
43 To achieve success as a fashion designer, you need to get a degree from a good ____________________________ college.
44 Designers who need to feel ____________________________ in their job prefer to work for a company and not for themselves.
45 Freelancers are able to have their own designer ____________________________ .
46 It is possible to gain related experience by working in a ____________________________ .
